

From The Superintendent

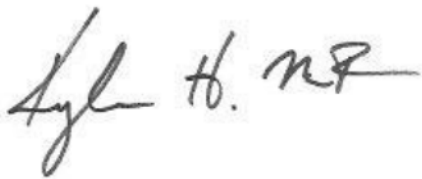

Happy November, MCS families!

I cannot believe how fast a year has gone by! It has been one year (November 1st, 2020) that I began to work here at MCS as the superintendent/principal. For that, I am incredibly grateful and thankful for the opportunity and continued support! MCS is a great school and a great community. To everyone, thank you for letting me be a part of something extraordinary!

As I wrote my first article last year, I commented on how this time of year is my favorite time. I love the smell of the leaves, the brisk mornings, the unpredictable weather, football Sundays, and, of course, Thanksgiving and all the food that comes with it. The month of November should be about thanks. Last year I wrote about being thankful for many things, which included good health and happiness. This year I want us to focus on being grateful for relationships and positive interactions.

Too frequently, in this new COVID-19 world, we are stuck in Zoom meetings, on our computer, or being forced to do everything over our cell phones. At times it seems like we have lost the human connection or have forgotten what it feels like to be with other people. We must have meaningful interactions with people face-to-face. Of course, remember to be safe while doing so, but speaking with someone in person is so much different than talking with them over the phone, Facetime, or on a digital meeting. Just because these methods may be more accessible, they may not be better for us overall. Having a masked/socially distanced meeting inside or taking proper precautions and meeting outside can be very beneficial for us on many levels.

Thank you once again for the continued support. Please have a safe and happy Thanksgiving.
